Police Question Bomb Suspect

Man Stabbed With Big Stiletto

HIGH SCHOOL OPENS SEASON WITH VICTORY OVER MORGANTOWN

Wounds Day Prove Fatal to Victim

A serious and what may prove fatal cutting affray, took place about midnight at 98 School avenue, a short distance below the Tyrol Pass Garage. Charles Lowell and John Augustino were participants in the affair and Lowell is suffering from several ugly wounds, one above his heart and another near his juglar vein in the throat. A physician was called and gave him first aid and this morning the patient is reported in a serious condition as both stab wounds are of a dangerous nature. Augustino was arrested shortly afterwards charged with the crime and this morning he admitted to the police that he was the welder of the knife that had caused the wounds.

Little information could be gained from either man as to the cause of the affray, other than an argument started in a club and Augstino attacked Lowell as he left the house along the Webster road. A third man probably saved Lowell from instant death when he interfered and grabbed the knife from the hands of Augustino. Police were notified of the affair and immediately started a search that led to the arrest of Augustino shortly afterwards. He was brought to the station and is being held to await the outcome of his victim's wounds.

Auto Stolen

A Velie touring car, the property of Thomas July, was stolen Saturday night from the garage located at 34 McKee avenue. The owner assisted by the police, searched all night for the missing car but did not recover it until the following morning about ten o'clock when a dairyman reported that he had seen the car lying along the Webster Hollow road.

Mr. July left the garage Saturday night about nine o'clock after carefully cleaning his car in preparation for a trip Sunday, locked the garage and returned about a half hour later only to find the lock broken and the machine missing.

A careful search was made of all the surrounding highways as far as West Newton and Monongahela City but no trace of the car was found. When the owner was notified of the car being found in the Webster Hollow he investigated and located his machine lying along the road with a badly damaged fender and gasoline tank. The thieves had evidently met with an accident and abandoned the car. Local people reported that the car was seen on the streets here at three o'clock in the morning.

Pneumonia Fatal

Word was received here this morning of the death of Mrs. Alexander Miller at her home in Versailles. The death occurred at 12:45 this morning, following a days illness from pneumonia. The deceased was 20 years old and besides her husband is survived by two children, Donald, aged 3 and Amelia, aged 11 months. Mrs. Miller was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Gillingham of Webster and in addition to her parents is survived by four sisters, Anna, Margaret, Frances and Marion. The body will be brought to this city today and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

London, Oct. 4.—A Reuters dispatch from Warsaw today stated that Poland and Lithuania had concluded an armistice.

Open Big Series

The World Series baseball games will open tomorrow in Brooklyn between the Cleveland American League team and the Brooklyn National League team. Fans in all parts of the country are anxiously awaiting the initial contest in the series to determine the world champion base ball team and the Daily Independent will give detailed accounts of each and every game, by innings, receiving first hand reports right from the scene by special United Press wire. Bulletins will be posted after each inning at the Independent office on Sixth street and all information available will be given those who call by telephone. Call 58.

Aeroplane Coming

Before the end of the week, Monessen may have the honor of witnessng an aeroplane owned by local people, flying over the city. At a meetng of the Monessen Aero Company, plans were completed for the purchase of a Lincoln Standard Tourabout of 150 horse power and David Ruse, a former army aviator, has left for Lincoln, Nebraska., in company with Joseph Konopinski, and will return with the plane later this week. They will test out the plane before leaving and if they "hop off" Thursday morning, they expect to make the trip here in two days, flying as far as Chicago on the first lap, and making the remainder of the journey on the following day.

Just as soon as the plane arrives here passenger trips will be made and Mr. Ruse, an experienced aviator, will give exhibitions of fancy flying stunts. After all the local people have been given an opportunity to take a flight in the machine, the aviator will leave for other parts of the country, many requests having been received from cities in this and surrounding states for exhibitions. They will keep the aviator busy until late in the winter season.

The local plane will be the largest ever brought to this vicinity and will have accommodations for two pasengers. Further announcements of the arrival of the plane here will be made.

Birthday Party

Mrs. Herbert Shambaugh, assisted by Mrs. Carl Almendinger, delightfully entertained Saturday in honor of her daughter, Margaret's ninth birthday anniversary. The home was decorated and favors carried out in the Hallowe'en colors. Those present were: Honora Butler Vera Chambers, Mary Riley, Dolores Vernaccini, Mildred Israel, Jane Campbell, Bessie Chase, Jane Giffen, Violet Giffen, Evelyn Crouse, Junice Meyers, Dorothy Reed, Edith Anderson, Ruth McGavitt, Olive Miller, Donel Popp, Dolly Yohe, Agnes Speck, Margaret Shambaugh, Everett Vernaccini, and Bill Shambaugh.

Enters Tech

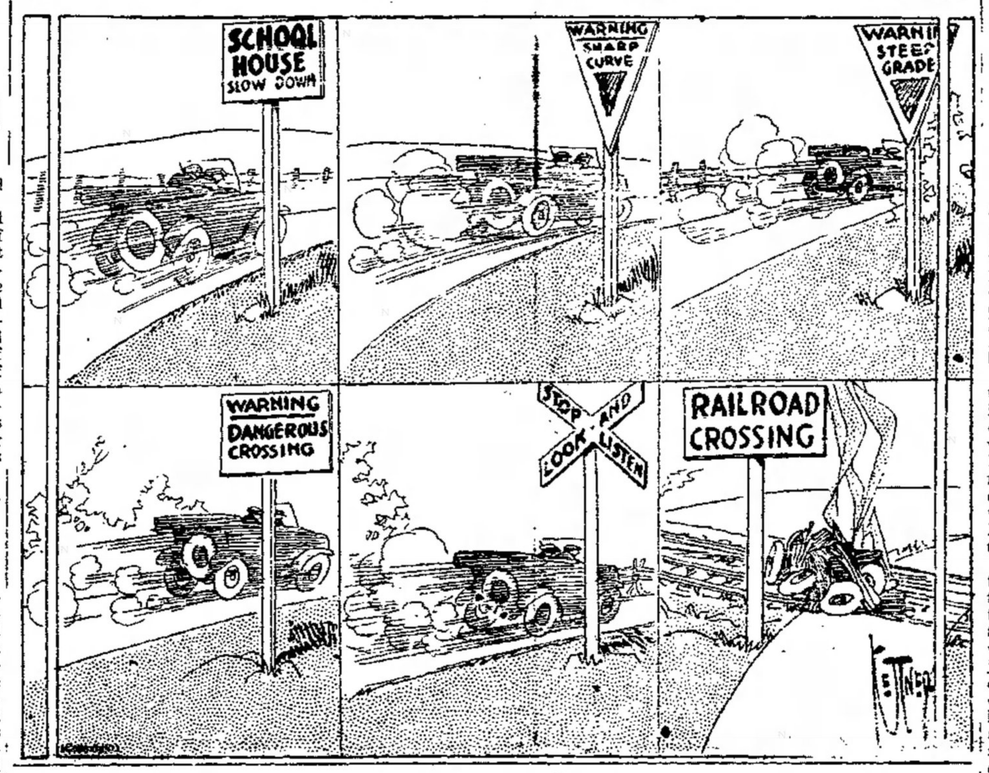
Miss Mary Skurkay, valedictorian of the 1920 class of the local High school, was one of the successful applicants for admittance to the Dramatic Arts class at Carnegie Tech and will immediately take up the study at the school. One hundred applicants took the examination, but only thirty-five were successful. John E. Skurkay, a brother, has also left to enter the Jefferson Medical school at Philadelphia.

Steamer Burned

(By United Press)

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 4.—The Ohio river passenger and packet steamer John L. Lowry was burned in the Salem river, 12 miles above Shawneetown, Ill., with an estimated loss of $75,000 this morning. The members of the crew were asleep at the time and were compelled to swim ashore. One man was burned.

The End of a Perfect Day



POLICE BELIEVE IMPORTANT ARREST WAS MADE WHEN BOMB SUSPECT IS CAUGHT

(By United Press)

Pittsburgh, Oct 4.—Florean Zelenska, aged 27 years, giving his residence at Brooklyn, N. Y., and who was arrested yesterday in a local hotel on suspicion of having information regarding the recent bomb outrage in New York, was given the third degree by police officials today and told the police that enough dynamite was secreted in New York at the present time to blow up the entire city. He told various stories as to how he came in possession of the dynamite on his person and was being held for further questionning at the hands of Department of Justice agents th's afternoon, or until his story is fully investigated.

Police stated that it was Leon Conkel of 167 E. Fourth street, New York, who told the police of Zelenska and his load of dynamite. Conkel stated that he had made the acquaintance of Zelenska while on his way from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh. When Zelenska was arrested he were a small lapel button of a white falcon and containing small initials. Police are awaiting word from authorties who have been notified of an accomplice of Zelenska who remained on the train. They have a good description of the man and expect that he will be under arrest before long. Zelenska was taken by government agents to the local Bertillion bureau for measurements and a photograph this morning. He told a United Press representative that he was a tailor in Brooklyn but had given up his trade to work in the mines near Logan, W. Va., but had only worked four days a month and was called by a New York employment agency to another place and was on his way when arrested.

New York, Oct. 4—A number of arrests were expected to be made in Brooklyn today in connection with the Wall street explosion not as a result of disclosures made after the seizure in Pittsburgh last night of Florean Zelenska, 29, a Russian.

According to advices received here by agents of the department of justice, a suit case containing dynamite, percussion caps, and fuses and a quantity of radical literature, were found in the room of the Pittsburgh hotel where Zelenska was arrested after struggle.

"See what we did in Wall street." Zelenska was alleged to have said when he was locked up. "The next time it will be bigger. The last time was only a start."

Zelenska aroused the suspicion of a former government operative on a train in Pittsburgh from Cincinnatti last evening. The former operative followed the suspect to a hotel and then reported to the police. Zelenska fought several minutes before he was overpowered and knocked unconscious.

Federal agents located Zelenska's former rooming place in Brooklyn and discovered he left there between 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning on the day of the explosion in Wall street—two weeks ago last Thursday—carrying a large yellow bag. The bomb was set off at noon. It was also learned that he had been an employe of an explosives company about two years ago.

Michael Tertasky, a tailor, in whose apartment Zelenska had a room said the latter came there about six months ago. A trunk of foreign make found in the room was filled with Russian literature, most of it radical. A draft classification card issued in Morris county, N. J., bore the name "Floyran Zielsnker", and bore the classification of 5-C, in which were placed mental or physical defectives.

While federal agents refused to discuss the case in detail it was intimated that Zelenska's arrest had furnished a "lead" which would result in several other men being taken into custody within a few hours.

Wanderer on Trial

(By United Press)

Chicago Oct. 4.—Charged with slaying his wife and a derelict whom he hired to assist in a mimic hold-up, according to his own confession, Carl Wanderer, former army lieutenant, was on trial here today.

Wanderer's wife and a raggedly dressed stranger were shot and killed in the vestibule of Wanderer's home June 21 when Wanderer and his wife returned from a movie. Wanderer claimed the man had attempted to hold him up and when he resisted his wife was shot. Wanderer said he killed the stranger in a pistol duel.

Harding in Lead

Senator Warren G. Harding, the Republican presidential nominee, still maintains a big lead in the straw vote being taken by eight thousand Rexall drug stores throughout the United States. The vote up to the first of the month totalled over 300,000 and was divided as follows: Harding, 182,291 and Cox 117,601. 47,216 women cast votes for Harding while but 23,712 voted for the Democratic candidate. This would give Harding 364 electoral votes to 167 for Cox. In Pennsylvania Harding secures 18,284 male votes and 4284 female votes, while Cox received 3789 male votes and 1275 female votes. In Ohio Harding has a lead of 17,000 male votes and 6767 female votes and Cox has 3012 male votes and 2-27 female votes.

Laundry Destroyed

Fire, which is thought to have been caused by crossed electric wires completely destroyed the Rice brothers laundry on Shady avenue, South Brownsville, Saturday morning, at about 3 o'clock.

The fire was discovered by Charles Howe, night watchman at the plant of the Brownsville Construction company, who is adjacent to the laundry. He immediately turned in an alarm but the building being frame structure, burned rapidly and by the time the three fire companies arrived it was a mass of flames and nothing could be done to save the structure or the contents.

The machinery which was of modern type and which had been purchased within the last year, was completely destroyed. The loss was estimated at about $45,000, part of which was covered by insurance.

Two Thousand Cheer Locals to Victory

The overwhelming defeat of Morgantown High school football at the hands of the local High school here Saturday came as a complete surprise to everybody. From the start of the game to the finish Monessen outclassed their opponents, being held for downs but three times while Morgantown was able to register but one first down.

Last year Morgantown was rated the second best team in West Virginia, having been eliminated from the championship by Parkersburg, who won the title. The team came to Monessen with a big reputation, but failed to show any offense strong enough to penetrate the local line, while Monessen crashed through the Mountaineers' defense for four touchdowns.

While Coach Townsend and his team are elated over their great victory yet they realize that Morgantown did not play up to their reputation and consequently a decisive victory over them does not indicate just how strong the locals are. Nevertheless it does indicate that Monessen has a bunch of fighters who have learned considerable football and who are going to prove tough sledding for every High school team on their schedule.

The locals' victory was due largely to the team work for which Monessen's teams have always been noted. While most of the players are green yet the team handled the complex shifts in fine style and few penalties were inflicted. However, there is still room for much improvement, especially in the way of running interference.

The defensive work of the local teams was about the best ever shown by a Monessen team. The Mountaineer backs seldom got out from behind the scrimmage line and usually were thrown by two or three tackles hitting them at the same time.

Every man on the Monessen team played brilliantly. The line from end to end was inpregnable while while the few who did bet through the first defense were brought down by Hannigan or Veschio before they could make much gain. Monessen's offense was featured by Veschio's line plunging, the consistent ground gaining of Capt. Hannigan and Schmidt's spectacular run for sixty kards. Anderson and Schrading, who alternated at half, both played a good game.

During the last quarter the entire second team was sent into the game. Veschio and Hannigan alone playing the entire game. The subs continued to tear Morgantown's line to pieces and when the whistle blew were steadily making their way toward the goal. The game ended 27-0. Veschio having scored three touchdownis, while Anderson carried the ball over once.

Former Judge Dead

Former Judge John B. Steel, aged 59 years, for 11 years judge of the Westmoreland county Orphans Court, and prominent in county politics, died in his home in Greensburg Saturday. He was born in Hannastown, this county, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Steel. He attended the Greensburg Seminary and Geneva college, graduating in 1885. When a separate orphans' court was established in 1901, he was appointed judge. In 1902, he was elected to serve a 10-year-term, but was defeated for a second term. In 1909 he married Miss Madge Montgomery, daughter of Judge Montgomery, of the supreme court of Indiana.

Scoreless Tie

The Keystone foot ball team opened their season at Brownsville Saturday, when they held the strong American Legion team of that place to a scoreless tie. The locals were light but fast and played an exceptional good game. A return game will be played in this city on October 12th as one of the big features of the Columbus Day celebration.

New Assistant

Robert E. Campbell of Donora, has accepted a position as assistant manager of the Monessen Music Co., store here and has entered upon his new duties. Mr. Campbell comes to this city highly recommended, having held a position as Chief Clerk in the Donora mills for some time. He has ability as a salesman and possesses a pleasing personality that will make him a valuable assistant to Mr. LaForte, the local manager.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The United States Supreme Court meets today, for the first time since the decision upholding constitutional prohibition last June. No decision were expected. The court will go to the White House to pay its respects to President Wilson.

Remain on Strike

(By United Press)

Wilkes Barre, Pa., Oct. 4.—Between 8,000 and 10,000 miners employed by the Pennsylvania Coal Co., in the Pittston district between Hilldale and Dunmore, went on strike today. Efforts to have the men report for work this morning while their union officers and others attempted to effect a reconciliation with the company, failed. The men remained steadfaast in their determination to strike, although they had reported back for work one week ago today after a strike lasting more than two months.

The cause of the present strike is the alleged unfair treatment of the men since their first strike was settled. In the past week, it is claimed they discovered that the mine contractors, against whom the original strike was called, had been given jobs as mine foremen instead of being altogether taken out of the mines as the strikers demanded. Some of the men refused to work during the week while others kept in the mines until Saturday afternoon when they insisted on a correction of conditions.

Their grievance committee asked the company for immediate removal of the contractors. The committee was told that the general superintendent, W. J. Jennings, would meet the men Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. When the committee assembled at that hour, its members were told that Jennings would not be ready for them until 7 o'clock that night. Again at that hour the committee was on hand but the superintendent again failed to show up. Without any further delay the committee issued the call for the newest strike.

Important Arrest

When the police were notified that Steve Risosky of Donora was seen leaving a chicken coop of a neighbor they at once started an investigation at his home and in an addition to discovering ten dressed hens, hidden away in a chimney flue, they found hundreds of pamphlets of Red literature hidden away in trunks, etc. They arrested Risosky along with three alien boarders who had guns in their possession and Risosky is being held awaiting the arrival of Department of Justice official.

REPURLICAN IN POLITICS

People who go away to work in these times are finding it more and more difficult to find home entertainment. A multitude of them can do nothing better than hire a room to sleep in, and then they have to eat in lunch rooms, a poor substitute for home life.

The typical old fashioned boarding house and the little economies of the landlady, have been much ridiculed. It was an institution that brought together all types of people Sometimes the association was pleasant and sometimes jarring personalities were compelled to mingle But it did provide a fairly good substitute for home comforts for millions of people. There are many who would be glad to find homes of this old type still open to them

Teachers complain bitterly of their troubles in finding places to board In many towns they can find no family willing to give them a comfortable dwelling place This constitutes one important reason for the shortage of teachers.

Women who used to take boarders declare that there is no money in the business, unless they charge a price that people with a teacher's income can not afford to pay.

While taking boarders may not be profitable if you charge up against the business the expense of maintaining a house, yet it would seem that many families could take in one or two paying guests and profit thereby. If they intend to keep their present homes, the cost of maintenance of the dwelling is the same whether or not they take in outsiders.

The spirit of hospitality ought to prompt a certain number of people to welcome people to their homes It is a shame when teachers and other civic workers, on whose service the advance of the community depends, have to beg from door to door to find a home. People ought to gladly welcome them for the sake of helping on the cause of education and progress.

WILLIAM'S IDLE THREAT

"This is the way heads will fly to the right and left when I return to Germany."

Hewing energetically at a tree on the estate in Holland where he is passing his exile, the former kaiser made this remark, according to a report brought to Germany by one of the old school junkers and repeated by the Socialist organ Vorwaerts.

If the former kaiser made the remark the danger to Germany is no greater because of it than if he had returned to Germany, the plausibility would be greater. There is much more doubt about the mere "if" than the "when" in his case, as the probability is he will never go back to Germany.

The threat is more characteristic William's flashy temper than an indication of political probabilities in Germany. Kaiserism in Germany and czarism in Russia have come to an end One need not be a Talleyrand to grasp that. The conditions have simplified themselves too well to throw even the ordinary observer into confusion.

Wilhelm may return to Germany some time, but the odds are against this contingency. A Romanoff may be set upon a throne in Russia, but the odds against that are stronger. Whether a Hohenzollern and Romanoff are seated upon new thrones the monarchies over which they hold sway will never repeat the history of the reigns that ended during the recent war

Somebody tell the Missourians that women now possess equal rights. A Kansas City policeman arrested a woman for taking a chew of tabacco.

It has almost reached the point where a bricklayer or a plumber is about the only person who can afford the luxury of sandwiches.

A lot of men will be able to give last year's overcoat the "once over" with more appreciation than in some recent years

The important thing is that the women who are smoking cigarets are not the ones who are managing the homes

It is annoying to have an original thought and then discover it in the old reader you used in the district school

The man who used to give his small change to a hobo now finds that he has to use it on himself

Operators Must Have License

Harrisburg, Oct 3—Movie fans are supporting 1231 motion picture houses in this state, according to figures announced here today by Dr Clifford B Connelley, Commissioner of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry Allegheny county, including Pittsburgh, has 191 the largest in any county of the state Philadelphia is second with 150 Fulton is the only county in which there are no theatres.

All motion picture machine operators are required to procure licenses which are supplied by the Department of Labor and Industry upon completion of satisfactory examination. The applicants must show technical familiarity with their machines, electricity and the films. That precauton is taken for the protection of the public against fires which may result from careless handling of the films

There are now 1880 licensed operators in the State. Examinations are held every two months, and from 75 to 100 persons appear for the tests The licenses are issued for one year, subject to renewal on application Three licenses were revoked this year.

For the protection and comfort of the audiences in movie houses, the Department of Labor and Industry has prescribed width of aisles, and arrangements of seats location and number of exits, and requires fire prevention devices in the projection rooms The construction of all motion picture theatres must conform to the State's Fire and Panic Act, of 1909

London, Oct. 4—Enemies of Bolshevism were crashing through the soviet armies on two fronts today.

Rumors by way of the Scandinavian countries indicated Russian affairs were in turmoil with strikes and hunger adding to the difficulties of the soviet rulers.

A military statement from Warsaw today said Polish troops were almost unhampered in their advance eastward The communique said the Poles had occupied the city of Novogrodek, while on either side the line had advanced from fifty to 100 miles with the Bolsheviki suffering heavy losses.

Twenty-six soviet divisions were destroyed, according to the statement and the booty falling to Polish troops reached enormous totals, impedimenta of all sorts was discarded by the Russian troops, clothing, weapons of all sizes and ammunitions falling to the pursuers.

The number of prisoners in the last Polish drive was announced as 42,000 while no attempt had been made to itemize the booty.

General Pilsudski, head of the Polish government, was reported to have taken the field personally to make the attack as affective as possible.

In the crimean region the Bolsheviki were disorganized with General Wrangel's and other anti-soviet forces penetrating deep into southern Russia. Reports from that section also told of strikes and famine in Russia. Attempts by the soviet leaders to recruit more troops were said to have failed.

Funeral Yesterday

The funeral of Mrs. Anna Bath took place from her late home on McKee avenue yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It was largely attended by friends, relatives and neighbors of the deceased and the family. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The pallbearers were young women, classmates and teacher in the Sunday school of Mrs. Bath's only child, Mrs. Joseph Gadd. The Rev. E. T. Carter, pastor of the Baptist church preached the sermon. The body was laid to rest in the family lot at the Belle Vernon cemetery, beside the grave of Mr. Bath, who preceded his wife to the grave a few months.
